Details of tasks/ provisions desirable for strengthening support systems for Persons with disabilities at University of Delhi.

S. No.	Task/ Provision	Present Status	Desirable Steps
1.	Providing directional mandate to EOC	Presently the observations/ recommendations of EOC officials are treated as advisory in nature. This at times creates bottlenecks/ delays in providing services and implementation of policies.	Observations/ recommendations of EOC officials should be made enforceable.
2.	Making available reading materials prescribed in the syllabi of all courses/ programmes of the University in accessible formats.	a. The braille library has three recording studios and a high speed embossing machine to convert material in accessible formats. b. EOC also undertakes conversion of material in the E-text format through camera scanners. c. Camera scanners with netbooks have been provided to braille library as well as to all the libraries of the departments and colleges of the University where visually impaired students or teachers are users. With the help of these camera scanners most of the books which are in English language can be read in accessible format by the visually impaired persons themselves without any help. This has helped solve the problem of inaccessibility of reading material to a great extent. d. Reading softwares and screen readers have been provided to all such visually impaired students and teachers on an individual basis who have opted for these.	a. The conversion of reading materials in accessible format for the visually impaired may be outsourced to expedite the process. b. It should be mandatory for the committees of courses of various departments/ centers to ensure that text books and materials are converted into accessible formats before their inclusion in the syllabi. c. It should be ensure that prescribed audio/ audio visual materials are converted into text format for the hearing handicapped.

The colleges should be directed to make their premises accessible in a time bound manner.
4.	Website accessibility	A substantial amount of the content available on the University Website is accessible. However, more needs to be done in this respect.	a. The accessibility work of the University Website and the websites maintained by the individual departments/ centers of the University may be outsourced on an turnkey basis to a disability accessibility expert/ organization. b. The colleges may also be advised to do likewise. c. It should be ensured that all text content placed on the website is in docs. or searchable pdf formats. Further, it should be ensure that all buttons, combo boxes and graphics on the website are labeled and accessible. d. All audio/ audio visual content on the website should be made available in text format for the hearing impaired.
5.	Employment	a. After the Supreme Court judgment related to reservation for persons with disabilities in employment, dated 8th October 2013, fresh 100 points vacancy based rosters have been prepared with respect to both teaching and non-teaching vacancies in the University. Most of the vacancies, earmarked as reserved for persons with disabilities have already been advertised by the University even before the DOPT OM of 22nd May 2015. b. ACADEMIC SESSION 2020-2021

Although 2020-21 was fully in online mode due to the pandemic, Deen Dayal Upadhyaya College, University of Delhi organized various online events, campaigns, webinars which promoted tolerance and generated awareness towards cultural, regional, linguistic, communal and socio-economic diversities. NSS formulated Project Shakti to raise women's issues and create an inclusive space for them. It also initiated Project Care and observed World Mental Health Day to make the educational space more amiable, for in recent times the issue of mental health has posed a major challenge to the holistic development of students. The pandemic and the prolonged lockdown have deepened the crisis further. WDC held sessions like "Be your own Laxmi" to promote financial literacy. Lectures were held to spread awareness about physical fitness and nutrition, protect our environment and come up with models of sustainable development. Equally informative and edifying was the session on the issue of menstruation and the myths associated with it. The Kalamkaar Literature Festival, which included a session on 'Native Tongue and the Vernacular" and Kavi Darbaar (involving poets from different regions of India), aimed at bringing more regional voices into the academic sphere and increasing awareness about the vernacular languages in India. Such events will help the society counter the impact of the increasing anglicization and make our students remain connected to their cultural roots.
