

Departmental Freshers

The departmental orientation 'Parichay' was conducted by commUnity, the subject society of the Department of Commerce on July 19 2018 to apprise the newly admitted students and their parents about the college and course, more precisely the structure of CBCS, the importance of academics and attendance and the student activities. The orientation was concluded with the tying of the bond of faith signifying the bond between the students, the teachers and parents.

A campus tour for the parents and students was also conducted to introduce them to the different services in the college and help them see the infrastructure of the college. The orientation was highly informative for not only the students who were stepping into a different world from the haven of their school, but also the parents to help them get acquainted with the syllabus and the college in the best way with a personal touch.

"A commUnity is appreciating our similarities and respecting our differences" With this firm belief, the 'Freshers Induction Programme' was held on 20 July 2018 to help the first year students adjust to the new environment and inculcate in them the ethos of the institution with a sense of larger purpose.

Yavanika, the dramatics society of Deen Dayal Upadhyaya College, in partnership helped in conducting some theatrical exercises for the freshers. These activities were based around trusting your peers fully, without inhibitions and working in a team and having each other's back no matter what. These exercises not only helped in forming a bond amongst the juniors but also helped form a bond with the seniors who actively participated and guided the juniors.
